Give Blood. Save Lives.

SINGAPORE

Overview

The key objective of Singapore's National Blood Programme is to ensure that all patients in Singapore, regardless of nationality and residential status, have access to a safe and sufficient blood supply when needed.

Singapore Red Cross Society (SRCS) was appointed the National Blood Recruiter in April 2001. SRCS work in partnership with Health Sciences Authority (HSA) to collect blood from donors on a voluntary, non-remunerated basis.

SRCS focuses on recruitment, retention and recognition of blood donors.

As the population ages, the usage for blood had been increasing for the past years. In Singapore, we have more than 70, 000 blood donors, however, this is only 1.87% of Singapore's population. Out of the 1.87%, only 15% are youths (16 to 25 year old). The number of youth blood donors have been declining for the past few years (20% in 2011 to 15% in 2023).

Have you wondered what will happen if there are not enough donors to sustain Singapore's blood supply in the future?

SRCS is organising an inaugural National Blood Dialogue on 21 February 2025, Friday. The National Blood Dialogue is a landmark initiative aiming at illuminating the crucial importance of maintaining a stable blood supply as Singapore progresses into a super-aged society. As part of the lead up to the event, SRCS is launching a Blood Donation Advocacy Challenge, focused on raising youth involvement in blood donation.

STUDENT CALL FOR PROPOSALS

The Blood Donation Advocacy Challenge is open to all students in tertiary institutions in Singapore, including international schools to showcase their innovative ideas on how to increase youth involvement in blood donation.

Students may outline a creative campaign or event idea that could effectively encourage and inspire youths aged 16 to 25 to donate blood and advocate blood donation within or out of campus.

The campaign idea must be within a budget of $8,000 (inclusive of GST).

The top nine selected entries will present their proposals to our team on 5th February 2025 for a preliminary judging. The winning proposals will be presented at the National Blood Dialogue event in February 2025, with Minister of State, Ms Rahayu Mahzam as our Guest-of-Honour.

Eligibility

- The challenge is open to students currently enrolled at any recognised Institutes of Higher Learning (IHLs) in Singapore.
- Participants may join either individually or in teams, with a maximum of five members per team.
